

The Daily Investor'No 'Average' Family

By William A. Doyle
Q. Frankly, I feel that it is not at all constructive for you to answer some of those stupid questions you get — especially those from teen-agers.

And I also disagree with you when advise people to invest as little as $40 a month or every three months through the New York Stock Exchange's Monthly Investment Plan. It is my experience that unless each investment purchase totals at least $500 the commission run quite high.

I can only assume that, in addition to writing your column, you are in the brokerage business.

But when you speak of adequate insurance, cash reserve, home ownership, etc., you talk in generalities. Why don't you give a specific example?

How much money can the average man invest? I mean a man with a wife, two children, an $8,000-a-year job and who is paying off the mortgage on a home. This is a general question. Your answer should cover many people.

If there is any kind of a trading market at all in those stocks, your broker should be able to get you a quote on them. Practically all brokers subscribe to the "daily pink sheets" put out by the National Quotation Bureau. The "pink sheets" are almost a "must" for brokers.

If there is no price quotation in the "pink sheets," the quotation might be found in the monthly books put out by the National Quotation Bureau. If your broker can't find quotations for you there, you have a tough row to hoe.

You might get some kind of an idea from the companies whose stock you own or from the other stockholders. That, of course, wouldn't be easy.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Prior to his appointment, he held the post of account executive for the World Travelers' Club, New York City.

Writer Praises Dengler For Work With Sextet

MOUNT POCONO — Johnny Dengler, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. LeRoy Dengler of Mount Pocono, was praised highly recently for his work with a Dixieland sextet.

Writing in the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, Robert Hermann, author of a column called "The Jazz Scene," had this to say about the former local resident:

"But the really stunning musician of the group is Johnny Dengler, who handles three instruments. (He plays others, too, but the sextet hasn't room to carry them all.)

"On the hulking bass sax Dengler is freely flowing enough to be Gerry Mulligan's big brother. Or he can grab a tuba and solo with trumpettlike agility besides blowing a smooth bass line to the ensemble. Next he picks up a cornet, on which he leaves nothing to be desired in the way of vitality and originality.

Dengler's cornet, added to Chuck Forsyth's trumpet and Lee Gifford's trombone, forms a potent brass section."

Dengler is playing with the Billy Maxted Sextet.

Topic Given For Service At Temple

TEMPLE Israel will hold the Friday Evening Sabbath Service at 8 p.m. Rabbi Joshua Soden will speak on the topic "A Light or a Window."

Jonathan Blaker, who will become a Bar-Mitzvah (the confirmed) tomorrow morning, will assist in conducting the service. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blaker of Stroudsburg will be hosts at a reception following the service.

Tomorrow morning services will start at 9 a.m. During the service the confirmand will chant the prophetic portion of the week taken from the Book of Isaiah.

Rabbi Soden will speak on "A Definition of Righteousness." According to Jewish tradition a boy attains religious maturity at the age of 13 and is henceforth morally responsible for his own actions. The literal meaning of Bar-Mitzvah is "The Son of the Commandment."

Concluding the program was a film, "Careers in Mathematics," with Dave Carey and Alan Langelli as projectionists, supervised by John Montgomery.

Mike Golden was master of ceremonies and the program was coordinated by Julia Sieg, chairman of the mathematics department.

Reverse Procedure

When Mrs. Housewife makes a budget, she starts by making note of the income she can expect—what Papa earns, less what he squanders on lunch and carfare. Then she decides what she will spend for necessities. What's left over, if any, she assigns to savings and luxuries.

This is a sensible approach that keeps America's families solvent. But Dr. Harley Lutz, Princeton University professor emeritus of finance and consultant on government finance to the National Association of Manufacturers, points out that our governments go about budget-making backwards.

First, he reminds us, governments decide what they want to spend for necessities, luxuries, and frivolities and then they levy the taxes to cover the spending. Seldom do our city, state and national governments govern their spending by what the people can really afford.

Dr. Lutz, in an address to the Government Research Assn., pointed out that "under this procedure the spenders always come to bat first."

"The reverse budget procedure would be to decide first how much of the people's income it would be safe and wise to take for public purposes and then adjust and apportion the spending for various services within this limit."

In other words, determine the government's proper income and then allocate it. Under the present cart-before-horse system, Americans are devoting 31 percent of their national income to their various governments.

To the spenders, all government projects are important. But are they always as important as the private spending they prevent? Excess taxes represent unbuilt factories, new business not started, new clothes for the kiddies not bought, operations postponed and many other things that "might have been" were taxes not so high.

Dr. Lutz suggests that governments take a hint from the household budget procedure.

And reminds us that governments do not support the people, but vice-versa. Through history, populations have understood this, until our time when so many swallowed the idea that government could make us all rich by taking our money and spending it.

The Lengthening Legislature

THE NEARLY 260 members of the State Legislature are entitled either to the sympathy of their constituents, or perhaps to their criticism. They can't seem to get their work done and adjourn.

By rights, they should have adopted the State's new two-year budget, complete with the taxes necessary to finance it, by last June 1, which was the start of the 1959-61 biennium. But they missed that target date by a wide margin.

The lawmakers had to take two different routes at raising the sales tax, first to three and one-half per cent, then to four per cent, before they arrived at a sum sufficient to pay most expenses. They're still trying to complete the budget for a period which started more than four and one-half months ago.

Holidays and special events have interfered with the deliberations of the House and Senate. The Kentucky Derby accounted for some absences and the World Series slowed up legislative business.

A convention of chicken raisers once took up the available hotel space and prevented the Legislature from meeting. Easter week, then Columbus Day, which also was Yom Kippur, delayed the proceedings.

Now it's the election which is blighting attempts to enact the Commonwealth's new laws. Some of the members are candidates for local offices and most of them have more

The Pennsylvania Story

Pro-Labor Bills Costly

By Mason Donelson
Harrisburg — Organized labor in Pennsylvania has not fared well during the current session of Pennsylvania's politically split Legislature—a Legislature due to pick up its reins once again on Monday following a two weeks recess.

For the most part so-called pro-labor legislation has been bottled in the Republican-controlled State Senate following earlier clearance by the Administration's Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

This in itself is not an unusual situation but it is an interesting situation.

Historically in the Keystone State labor has been closely allied with the Democratic Party. This was perhaps no more dramatically and emphatically pointed up than during the preceding Leader Administration.

In those days labor leaders of Pennsylvania enjoyed an entrance to the Governor's Office as most officials of the Leader Administration—and in some instances an even greater freedom.

During the Administration tax battles of the 1955-56 session and later the 1957 session, Pennsylvania's labor bosses carried much of the work load in trying to line up lawmakers behind Administration programs.

The Leader Administration and labor worked hand in hand in a fashion never before witnessed on Capitol Hill.

Today during a second Democratic Administration, that of David Leo Lawrence, the "cooperative" spirit between labor and the Administration still exists—but not to the degree noticeable during former Governor Leader's tenure.

All of this has had a bearing on any success—or lack of it—insofar as labor is concerned, during the current legislative session.

It can be said that generally, pro-labor legislation has been carried successfully through the Administration-controlled House of Representatives—but not in moving successfully it has not carried with it the zest or excessively heavy push of Democratic Administration forces enjoyed previously.

For the most part it was long ago earmarked for "the Senate tempering pot"—that is, the dilution tray in the GOP anti-administration controlled upper chamber where pieces of Administration legislation has been subjected to a slowly turning legislative wringer.

Pending for example in the Senate on the pro-labor front are pieces of legislation designed to liberalize unemployment compensation benefits, workmen's compensation benefits, occupational disease benefits, minimum wage-hour legislation and a number of similar bills.

While Administration-controlled House clearance has been gained in most instances, the red flag has been hoisted in the Senate where so far most such legislation has been buried in committee.

It is apparent to many on Capitol Hill that this year is not destined to be a "good" year insofar as pro-labor legislation is concerned.

For one thing, much of the so-called labor legislation would require the expenditure of additional state monies and Pennsylvania's current Legislature—more particularly the GOP-controlled Senate—is in little mood for increasing the expenditure item, but rather bent on cutting it.

This year is not destined to be a "labor" year.

George Sokolsky Says...

Nehru's Dilemma

Nehru, who rules modern India through Congress Party, is the father of his own difficulties. His country, after it was given its independence by Great Britain, sought a technique for being all things to all sides.

To avoid war of being involved in diplomatic difficulties, Nehru adopted the remoteness of philosophy. He remained within the Commonwealth, although he abhorred the Empire. He accepted American aid but also sought and got Russian aid.

He was opposed to all forms of imperialism but attempted to build an Indian Ocean hegemony. He denied the overlordship of any nation but established one in Kashmir.

He worked out a co-existence with Red China in collaboration with Chou En-lai but was forced to give refuge to Red China's enemy, the Dalai Lama of Tibet. Everlastingly prattling about peace, he is now on the verge of war with Red China.

Nehru's problem is that he cannot control the course of history. It works its way through channels which he cannot master. For instance, the establishment of the Communist state in Kerala might have been averted if Nehru had found jobs for thousands of intellectuals who are out of work.

Perhaps he might have achieved that by establishing a system of general compulsory education from the kindergarten to the university. That would have given B.A.'s and M.A.'s jobs.

In India, this would not only require a huge outlay of funds,

County Moves To Hear Tax Assessment Cases

MONROE County Commissioners are paving the way for clearing up the huge numbers of tax appeals made since the new reassessment program has gone into force.

John Lesoine, chairman of the commissioners, backed by Willard Quick and Adolph Rake, ordered George Brands, county tax assessor, to set up summaries on all pending appeals and present the papers as soon as possible.

Brands said it would take his office about two weeks to ready the documents.

Lesoine said the commissioners would have to go into daily sessions to finish the studies and hear all appellants.

He added that there are still a number of 1959 appeals pending which must be cleared up before the commissioners can start work on the 1960 appeals.

Flat Rate

Concerning a tax assessment case in Mount Pocono, Brands told commissioners that trouble arose due to classifying the property as improved, or not improved. He said his office had placed a flat rate upon the property since it was not completed, nor had an improvement permit been filed with his office.

Brands said two communities in the county have such improvement permit ordinances in operation—Mount Pocono and East Stroudsburg—and in any case such as this, it was the fault of the borough for not properly filing the permit with the county office.

East Stroudsburg, he added, has always been prompt with filing the permit reports, but he said Mount Pocono has not complied fully with making the reports.

Several vacancies exist at present in various communities as tax assessors, Brands said, but he did not say if his office would fill the openings in the near future.

Appointed To Authority

The commissioner directed Ray Saunders, commissioners' clerk, to set up a meeting with the Monroe County Housing Authority in the near future.

Incidental to this, the commissioners appointed Robert B. Stewart, East Stroudsburg, to fill the unexpired term of Marshall Reese on the authority.

The commissioners approved a request from the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce for the use of the old Arlington Heights election house as a workshop for the group to repair Christmas toys.

Two Injured In Accident

TWO girls were injured in a two-car accident in Barrett Township yesterday. Injured were the driver, Catherine DePalma, Cresco, and her passenger, Ellen Punchon, Buck Hill Falls.

The two girls were admitted to Monroe County General Hospital in East Stroudsburg by the Barrett Twp. Emergency Ambulance.

Driver of the other vehicle was Edward Heckman, Canadensis.

According to Barrett police-man Harry Campbell, damage to the two vehicles was $500.

The supervisors reported on their latest efforts to obtain protection for the Pocono Park area. C. H. McConnell, chief flood control engineer of the Department of Forests and Waters, visited the area with members of the board on Oct. 23.

The statement asks for the construction of "dikes and walls that will handle 25 percent more water than the 1955 inundation" and specifies that the work should be done before highway projects in the area are completed.

Buck warned that the proposed intersection of elevated sections of the Stroudsburg Thruway and Route 209 at Pocono Park would create a flood hazard effecting an estimated 600 residents and property worth more than three million dollars.

He said the state's engineers have made no provision for flood waters of the Pocono to return to the creek channel downstream from the highway barrier. Road plans show a pair of 18-inch storm drains, two Route 209 underpasses and a culvert at little Pocono Creek.

These outlets would not be carept on the study.

School Building Costs Hold Near Budget

Unexpected Expenses Exhaust Fund

THE FINAL costs for building the new East Stroudsburg Area Joint Junior-Senior High School, and the additions at the Smithfield and Middle Smithfield Schools will run very close to the amount set for the $3,330,000 bond issue drawn up for payment of the construction, the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Committee was told last night.

Due to unforeseen costs during the building of the new high school alone, plus the payment of the interest for the first six months of the bond issue, the contingency fund has been exhausted, the architects revealed.

One of the costs mentioned above has been the placing of sheet-piling, plus additional excavating and pipeline costs to obstruct the flow of water on the site of the high school gymnasium, the report reads.

Test borings, while run extensively prior to the start of the excavations for the gymnasium, did not reveal the presence of an underground spring, the committee was told by the architects.

Cost Totals $51,749

Total costs for the prevention of the flow of water from this spring was $51,749.75, the firm of Everett and Associates, architects, reported yesterday.

In addition, the interest payment made June 1, 1959, was $75,697.50. Along with these costs was the fact that bids for the two additions exceeded estimates made under the original bond issue by over $18,000.

However, a total of $27,000 was returned to the authority since the costs on various jobs did not require the estimated funds through the elimination of minor extras, and through money saving change orders issued by both the authority and the committee.

The board was told that less than $6,000 had to be taken from the equipment fund to make up these losses which were not figured upon in the original estimates.

All of the above figures were released last night through the committee solicitor, Alex Ben-singer, and DeWitt Farrington and Warren H. Oswald, representing the firm of Everett and Associates.

In other business, the committee:

Learned the audit made by the Auditor General's representative recently found only a few minor items to be corrected, and Tilghman Courtright, secretary, reported the corrections were made immediately.

Were notified by Supervising Principal Carl T. Secor that the bonfire will not be held from this year on.

Approved the request by the DeMolay to use the high school rifle range providing an approved instructor is on hand at all times.

Approved the use of the Memorial Stadium by the American Legion on the night of Nov. 11.

Were informed by Secor that the training school classes on the ESSTC campus be turned back to the jointure, costs would rise $90,000 per year.

Turned down a request from the Bangor Area Joint Schools requesting possible pupil vacancies in the high school during the coming several terms.

Lions Hear Addresses
By Three Local Coaches

T. MANNING CURTIS of the Stroud Union High School faculty, a veteran in school athletics, marshalled the coaches of the area Tuesday night at the dinner meeting of the Stroud Lions in the Penn-Stroud at which the instructors spoke on their work.

Curtis paid tribute to M. Stiles Baldwin, a former Lion and figure in Pennsylvania school athletics for many years, who presided and introduced the speakers.

He referred to the wealth of athletic material found in the Monroe area and lamented that this timber is sometimes overlooked or not fully exploited when it is found. He stressed the wealth of personality existing in such groups as the Lions Club and urged that it be more fully exploited.

Head Coach Jack Gregory of the State Teachers College told of benefits accruing to the school through the giving of separate heads to two divisions of the institution.

He paid tribute to the value of line coaching but emphasized that individualism on the part of the player is still essential and said a big man must play not only with his weight but with his whole heart.

The speaker explained his desire to bring to the college the best teams available and to play a couple of games downtown each year. To this end he asked the cooperation of all interested. Coach Morris Hohenheiser of the college was introduced.

Coach Walter Bjorn of Stroud Union High said in his own opinion the school team is on its way up. He said, undeniably, the school and the team have many good players but a certain difficulty which resulted in getting this strength all into action at one time.

Of course, illness and injury to players were factors in this connection, he observed.

Coach Jack Kist of East Stroudsburg High School, reviewed his team's record of three wins, two losses and two ties. He thought that, if there was some weakness in the offense it was doubtless due to inexperience. He praised the strength in defense found in the team but admitted, "You don't win games by being on the defensive."

Club members welcomed Art Jolley back to the meetings, he having recently been hospitalized. Birthdays of several members were announced. Sympathy was extended to Ed Van Why in connection with a death in his family.

President Kopenhaver urged the members to proceed with all possible energy in the sale of tickets to the concert of the Endicott-Johnson Workers Chorus which will be held here under Lion auspices Friday, Nov. 13.

Rev. Francis Barrett, priest-director of St. Matthew's CCD, will attend in his respective category, and will also participate in special sessions which are designed to facilitate formulation and expansion of Parish CCD units.

James A. Murphy, president of St. Matthew's CCD since its inception in the parish four years ago will also attend the congress. He will participate in special training courses for teachers of high school catechetical classes. He will also attend teacher seminars throughout the three-day period.

Even good drivers can be forced 'nto accidents!

A hill-climbing truck ahead and a parade of honkers behind can try your patience. Some tailgater with his lights full on you can make you boil. But don't fall for those old "let's you and him fight" routines. Traffic accidents killed 37,000 people last year. Who knows how many died because some good driver let another pressure him into taking a foolish chance? Don't let anger force you to risk lives—yours or others!

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Census Paper Being Mailed To Farmers

QUESTIONNAIRES for the 1950 Census of Agriculture are now in the mail and will be in the hands of local farmers within a few days, it was announced yesterday by Acting Field Director Edgar L. Bryan of the Census Bureau's regional office at Pittsburgh.

The farm census questionnaires are being mailed from Chicago, Ill., with the distribution timed so that the report forms will reach farmers about a week ahead of the date when census takers will begin the field canvass.

Purpose of Action

The advance mailing is for the purpose of giving farm operators time to consult their records before filling in the answers required by the questionnaire and getting them ready for the census takers to pick up.

This procedure is designed to insure greater accuracy of reporting and to save time both for the farmer and the census taker when the latter calls at the farm.

The 1950 Census of Agriculture questionnaire is designed to provide information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt.

On the average, each farmer is asked about 100 questions, many of which can be answered by simply checking "yes" or "no".

Elks To Honor Thomas Metzgar

Patent On Vapor Generator Is Received By International Boiler Works Engineer

GEORGE STABENOW of East Stroudsburg, was the recipient recently of U.S. patent 2,907,306, entitled "Hot Liquid Or Vapor Generator". He is chief engineer and vice president in charge of engineering at International Boiler Works.

In the generation of steam in steam boilers, it is common practice to separate water from the steam and to return such water to the steam generating portion of the boiler. It is desirable to circulate this water through devices in the path of the hot exhaust gases from the latter through boiler tubes arranged in parallel.

It is the object of Stabenow's invention to overcome this limitation and for this purpose he provides the top of each of the steam generator tubes, where they are connected to the upper header, with a special orifice.

It is claimed that, as a result of this arrangement, there will always be a down-flow of liquid in all tubes, which in turn insures that an incipient vaporization will be halted before it can develop into the creation of a hot spot.

Stabenow has assigned this patent to La Mont Steam Generators, Inc., New York City.

Just Between Us —

—by Bobby Westbrook

One of the great common denominators of American life today is television, which is one reason, I suppose, why so much conversation these days center around the quiz scandals.

The weather, of course, we all have in common, but few people have read the same books, seen the same movies, or even read the same news stories.

And another reason is the fact that people who have appeared on television a lot are, in fact if not in truth, as familiar in the home as the next door neighbor — more so these days when neighbors may or may not even know each other.

So all you have to do is mention Van Doren and the buzz starts up. And for most people there seems to be as much sorrow as censure: not so much that he succumbed to temptation in the first place but that he lied for so long.

To signal one man out of so many who did the same thing for so much attention is the penalty he pays not for his faults but for his virtues. Because he was able to win our admiration and affection, his defection came as sort of a personal betrayal.

It isn't difficult to forgive the faults of people who mean nothing to us, but we can be awfully hard on our friends who don't live up to what we expect of them. It might be good for us if we were as hard on ourselves.

Advent Plans By Altar, Rosary Board

The executive board of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's R. C. Church discussed plans for the coming Advent season at their meeting on Wednesday night in the school auditorium.

All families in the parish are asked to start displaying their Advent Wreaths on November 29, the first Sunday in Advent and to use them every night until the Birthday of the Christ Child.

A native of Philadelphia, Kramm joined the famous Eva LaGallienne Civic Repertory Theatre shortly after getting his AB from the University of Pennsylvania in 1928. Later he acted in the Group Theatre productions including Clifford Odets' "Burke the Dead" on Broadway, and in the London version of Odets' "Golden Boy."

In 1940, he again appeared on Broadway in support of Ingrid Bergman and Burgess Meredith on "Lillian" followed by a part in "Uncle Harry" starring Joseph Schildkraut.

After service in the army, Kramm turned to directing on Broadway and in stock.

"The Shrike," followed to Broadway acclaim, Hollywood offers and the Pulitzer prize in Drama. He took over the direction of the national, Coast and London productions of his hit play.

A friendly, unassuming, down-to-earth man, Kramm has many vital things to say about the theatre.

Womans Club Meals For Millions Project

Newfoundland — It's "Meals for Millions" week in this area, and the Greene - Dreher Woman's Club is collecting for this worthy cause.

Solicitors are carrying out a door-to-door canvass, seeking donations for the club's project of the year which will benefit starving people in Laos and Mexico.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. A. V. Lupcho, chairman; Edith Simons, Olga Manhart; and Helen Feigel.

The club has suggested that each person deny himself some small luxury and give the money that would have been spent for it, to the Meals for Millions collection.

Area churches are cooperating with the club, and many of them will have containers ready on Sunday for those contributors who have not been reached by solicitors.

Mules Face Stern Test In Albright

ALLENBROOK, Pa. — The Muhlenberg Mules, tagged with their third straight defeat by Hofstra last Saturday, will face another stern test this weekend when they entertain Albright at Muhlenberg Field. This year's eleven is regarded as the best to represent the Reading college since Ed Giulian's 1952 outfit posted a 6-3 record. The Lions are in second place in the MAC's small-college Northern Division, with a 4-1 mark in league play. Overall, they are 4-3.

Now 2-4 on the season, Muhlenberg is threatened with its first losing season in six years. The Cardinal and Gray footballers have not finished in the red since Tom Triplett's 1953 outfit registered a 3-5 log. With only three games remaining to be played, the Mules must come up with a victory over Albright to keep their chances for a winning campaign alive.

Unable To Move

Against Hofstra, for the second week in a row, Muhlenberg was unable to generate a scoring drive, and Ray Whispell has ordered lengthy offensive drills for this week's workouts in an effort to put a kick in the Mules' attack.

The Mules are counting on Herb Owens, Rollie Houseknecht, and Charlie Kuntzman to return to form and spark them to a winning effort against the Lions. Owens and Kuntzman, the team's leading ground-gainers, have both been checked in 'Berg's last two outings. Owens paces the Cardinal and Gray ground attack with 257 yards in 58 carries for a 4.4 average. Kuntzman has run up 217 yards in 55 tries for a norm of 3.9. The two men are tied for the team scoring leadership with 18 points each.

Houseknecht, who was blanked for the first time when he went 0 for 6 against Hofstra, has completed 35 of 94 passes for 534 yards.

TAKE IT EASY YOU Penn State rooters. Don't put a mortgage on the house and bet on the Nittany Lions to beat Syracuse in the "Battle of the East" tomorrow.

Yesterday we got it from the horse's mouth that Penn State will lose by two or more touchdowns to the Orange.

Where did these words of wisdom come from? None other than Richard (Dick) Harlow, one of the greatest coaches of all time.

Wonderful Dick, a member of the screening committee picking the teams who will battle in the first annual Liberty Bowl game in Philadelphia in December, just can't see the Lions taking Syracuse.

"We went over both of these teams and Syracuse has one of the greatest array of talent any coach ever was blessed with in history," the former Penn State assistant and head coach of Colgate, Western Maryland and Harvard said.

"Every night I go to bed and pray that I'm wrong in my deductions," says the man who has a very warm spot in his heart for Rip Engle, tutor of State's eleven.

"But the handwriting is there. Syracuse is deep in every position and that backfield of theirs is magnificent — big plus speed," Harlow analyzed.

"I've seen Penn State play several games this year and have viewed films of Syracuse's encounters and the final conclusion is Ben Schwartzwalder's team all the way.

"I hope I'm wrong. After all I like Rip love my Alma Mater, but you can't turn your nose up at reality," Harlow pointed out.

"Only a miracle can save the Lions this Saturday. They'll have to be higher than a kite and still perform far beyond the call of duty," he noted.

"Then Syracuse would have to have a serious letdown. But I think this is impossible when you consider the depth of the team and know there is a boy waiting to get in just or near as good as the lad on the so-called first team," Dick remarked.

Harlow, an off-season resident of LaAnna, hopes he is false in his prediction. But as he says, "Syracuse definitely has one of the greatest teams ever assembled in the East."

Don't be surprised if Dick Wolslayer, former East Stroudsburg High star, gets a high rating in the selection of coaches for the All Pennsylvania Teachers Conference Football team.

Two mentors already have made it known that they will cast a ballot for the East Stroudsburg Teachers center who has performed brilliantly in every Warrior encounter this season.

While on the subject of ESSTC, fullback John Brunner got a "feeler" from the Baltimore Colts of the National Professional Football League.

Brunner may turn up at the Colts training camp next year as a defensive halfback, a sore spot in the Baltimore alignment this season.

Stroudsburg High's Student Council deserves the plaudits of the community for the fine spirit it reveals at all Mountaineer home games.

The group, headed by President Henry Roeder, a senior, supply pre-game festivities, greeting the grididers as they come on the field.

East Stroudsburg Teachers is attempting to line up two area collegiate foes for next season. Invitations to join the Warriors grid slate were handed to Scranton University and Muhlenberg College.

"Hill" authorities hope to create a football rivalry with elevens close to East Stroudsburg.

Tomorrow at noon parents of ESSTC football players will be guests of the school at a luncheon. Approximately 30 Mas and Fems have indicated they will attend a feed with their football offspring.

Stroudsburg Hosts Slatington At Giffels Field

Mountaineers Aim For .500 Season Record

AIMING for the .500 seasonal mark, Stroudsburg High hosts Slatington in a Lehigh Valley Football League duel at Gordon Giffels Field today. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Mountaineers, 3 and 4 on the year, are also on a two-game winning streak, having beat Whitehall and Catawissa in their last two starts.

In the Lehigh Valley circuit, Stroudsburg owns a three-win and two-loss record. A victory tonight will solve the protégés of Walt Bjorn into third place in the league.

Yesterday the Mountaineers wound up drills with a light workout. Wednesday Stroudsburg went through a heavy scrimmage.

2nd In Five Days

This will be the second game in five days for the West Main St. eleven. Monday, the Mountaineers battled Catty in a postponed contest.

The Mountaineers are slated to start Gary Reish and Barry Bonds at ends; Bill Morse, Bob Ford or Ron Schulman at tackles; Al Edinger and Larry Hard, guards; and Bruce Imbt, center.

The Stroudsburg backfield will be composed of Warren (Mouse) Loney at quarterback; Bill Schoonover and Doug Wright, halfbacks; and either Tom Schatzman or Davey O'Connor fullback.

Other Mountaineers who will see action, especially on defense, are linemen Gary Rinker, Ray Davies, John Imbt, Cleve Krege and backs John Baylor and Bill Metzgar.

Improved Defense

Hitherto a high-flying offensive team, the Mountaineers showed an improved defense in their last two starts against Catawissa and Whitehall.

Slatington's attack is built around halfback Larry Jones, fullback Dick Cole, and ends Ron Hughes and Dave Hanke.

Slater coach, Walt Fred Snyder, has 14 lettermen imbedded in his first two units.

Spahn Undergoes Knee Surgery

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's ace southpaw pitcher, underwent brief surgery Thursday for removal of a loose foreign body from his left knee.

Dr. Don H. O'Donoghue's office reported the 38-year-old hurler came through in fine shape and the knee "will be good as ever."

Spahn, who lives on a ranch near Hartshorne, Okla., won 20 games last season.

New Gold Head

NEW YORK (AP)—John G. Clock of Long Beach, Calif., will succeed John D. Ames of Chicago as president of the U.S. Golf Assn. at the annual meeting in January.

Clock, a former president of the California Golf Assn., heads the slate of officers presented today by the USGA nominating committee. Clock now is a vice president.

Scores TKO In 13th

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Pascual Perez of Argentina handed Sadao Yachita a severe beating Thursday night and went on to score a 13-round knockout over his Japanese challenger in retaining his world flyweight title.

Don Westmaas, Jamestown, N. Y., will start at right. The former Clarks Summit (Pa.) Abington High School athlete has played end in Lafayette's past three games.

Still Tough

LONDON (AP)—The cockney ex-foreign secretary, Laborite Herbert Morrison, has taken the name of his tough old home neighborhood to his new title—Baron Morrison of Lambeth. His lordship, accepted the lifetime peerage on retiring near age 72 from the House of Commons.

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—Virginia Military Institute, loser only to nationally ranked Penn State in seven games, returns to Lehigh University's Taylor Stadium Saturday, for the first time since it spoiled an undefeated season for the Engineers with a 12-7 victory in 1957. Game time is at 1:30 p.m.

The Keydets of Coach John McKenna went unbeaten in 1957 winning the Southern Conference championship, with Lehigh winning the first Lambert Cup as the top small college team in the East.

Now the 1959 team is being called the most explosive VMI outfit since the all-winning "Flying Squadron" of 1920, with sophomores matching the performances of outstanding senior holdovers.

Break-away runners Sam Horner, John Traynham and Stinson Jones, give the Keydets a sprint relay team in the backfield, with senior Horner the fastest, at :97 for the 100 yard dash. Traynham and Jones are sophomores.

Wooten Returns

Replacing Westmaas at end will be another All-Mac selection of last year, Dan Wooten of Cape May Court House, N. J. Wooten backed up fullback Don Nikles in the last three games and would have remained had not the current injuries forced his return to end.

McConlogue plans to put sophomore John Franco, Newport, R. I., in the second unit at full-back. Franco's running mates will probably be John Contarino of Woodbury, Hts., N. J. at right half, and either Marion Ujevich, of Allerton, Pa. or Ron Graf, of Union, N. J. at left half. If Doneschel gets the green light from team physician Kenneth Kressler, he will be in the second team backfield at left half.

The Leopards first met Rutgers on the gridiron in 1882 in the first officially scheduled game ever to take place between Lafayette and a sister institution. Lafayette holds a slight edge in the 54 game series, 28-25-1.
